UniBall Lessons Sign Up

In previous issues it was mentioned that we are going to be holding lesson sign ups. Over the past two weeks I have received some ideas and volunteers to help teach the community. As of right now next Saturday evening at 6 PM EST Wawa, Corvette and Ironman are going to be giving instructions on the Hockey Map.

The format for these instructions are going to be as follows:

- Each instructor is going to get 5 players. (Including the instructor this will make a 6 Person Hockey game)
- You will play a normal hockey game to 10.
- During the game the instructor is going to be giving insight on how to improve your game.
- After the GAME IS OVER, this will be your chance to ask any questions. After all questions are answered, if you guys want you can play another game. Once the instructions period is over the instructor will be available in BR Chat for further questions.

How to sign up:

- PM zoron or Maria
- Join UBHelp and Say "I WANT IN SATURDAYS LESSONS".
- Reply on the newsletter forum.

I will be putting the games together. If we have more than 15 people interested we will host multiple times of the lessons so everyone gets involved. On a side note if you are in the game disrupting the players that are trying to learn and not taking the lessons seriously you will be banned from the game.

UniBall Advertising

UniBall players and admins are currently attempting to advertise UB in different places. This would mean that not only will UniBall be shown on free media but also on paid advertising media such as websites and magazines.

The aim is obvious. Bring players to UB. The benefits to this will be obviously more players and more potential. The negative aspect of this may be new players 'ruining' potentially great games. However now that you are informed of this advertising I hope you will think twice before kicking an unrecognised player. The whole point of this is to bring more players, please don't drive them away.

If you would like to help or have any ideas that may support this advertising, please contact -Alien- or Surreal on BRChat.

The UniBall Bi-Weekly Newsletter

Due to the lack of events and leagues taking place on UB right now, the UniBall Newsletter will start to be issued bi-weekly. Once things start to pick up again, it will go back to a weekly issue. If you have any ideas or articles that you would like to submit to the newsletter, email uniballhelp@gmail.com. We hope that you continue to enjoy the newsletter. The next issue will be released on Monday, May 18, 2009.
